Darjeeling

Darjeeling

Darjeeling is a black tea that gives the water a coppery colour and a distinct flavour reminiscent of ripe fruit. This tea is grown in a protected geographical area.

Ref. 202065

Darjeeling takes its name from a region in West Bengal that climbs the peaks of the Himalayas. This black tea of exceptional quality is known worldwide and has many fans. The tea plantations flourish here thanks to an exceptional climate and generous soil. This Darjeeling black tea, with its ripe fruit flavour, is a classic and embodies the know-how of India. This autumn-harvested tea from a prestigious highland garden grows in the lush landscape of the foothills of the Himalayas.

This tea meets the standards of the Fairtrade label. By choosing this reference, you are supporting producers and workers thanks to the conditions associated with Fairtrade. Darjeeling is also organically certified. It is grown without pesticides or chemical fertiliser, in plantations that help preserve biodiversity, soil quality, rivers and groundwater.
